Corps will study drainage problems

BY MARY G. SEILEY
A team from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is set to study flooding and drainage woes in Hancock County.

Officials from the Corps' Mobile district office met Tuesday with Hancock County and city officials to take notes on area problems that the Corps might address in the study. They got a notepad full.

J.W. "Pete" Woolsey, who is managing the Corps project, said the upcoming study covers Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties. It's covered 100 percent by federal funds, under a measure Rep. Gene Taylor sponsored in Congress as a result of heavy flooding on the Coast.

Hancock supervisors and officials said the most troubled areas here include Shoreline Park and Bayside Park subdivisions, poorly drained residential areas in low elevations.

They also pointed to the area behind Hancock Medical Center as vulnerable to flooding, and the residential area of McLaurin Street off Longfellow Road.

An even bigger problem, the Corps was told, is the need to dredge the mouth of the Jourdan River and Rotten Bayou, a project the county had requested in 1987 or 1988. Supervisor Michael Ladner said although the Corps was contacted about silt buildup in those waterways, nothing ever came of the request for help.

County officials also said they have had troubles with the federal government in trying to deal with local drainage

Depot grant

Cuevas: City must move faster or lose it

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis' former clerk of council wants to "jumpstart" a major redevelopment plan for the old depot.

Mike Cuevas, now with the Community Associates planning firm in Biloxi, was one of the key players in a successful quest for federal funds to restore the 1928 downtown depot.

But she told City Council members earlier this month unless the city gets moving on the project, the "window of opportunity" for it may slam shut. She estimated about 18 months are left before the federal grant won't be available.

"This project is close to my heart," Cuevas said to the council.

Bob Landry said the private firm isn't trying to "reinvent the wheel, but to reassemble the team" that won a $580,000 grant from Federal Transportation Enhancement Funds in the spring of 1993.

That money would be used primarily to restore the building on Railroad Avenue (also known as Blaize Avenue), southwest of the city's core downtown area, to its original glory.

The two-story Spanish mission style structure is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. City officials want to use it and its grounds as a hub for public and private transportation services, and as a civic activity center.

In addition, officials hope

Fire destroys Cedar Point home

BY AMY PICKICH
Peggy Mitchell said she and her husband, Jimmy, heard "loud popping noises...like someone was banging on the door," around 3:30 a.m. Sunday while sleeping in their house on 103 Austin Lane in Bay St. Louis.

Jimmy said when he went outside to see where the noise was coming from he saw flames engulfing the right side of the house.

The couple had been in their bedroom, located on the back, left hand side of the house where they have lived for 20 years.

Once her husband saw the flames, he called to her to get their six-year-old granddaughter, Amanda, to get out. She said she immediately called 911 on the cordless phone and had enough time to put it back on the receiver.

According to Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana, the department was called to the fire at 3:44 a.m. Sunday. It apparently began in a shed structure attached to the main part of the house. He said the state fire marshal is still investigating the blaze.

Lizana said firemen were

Nereids presents 28th bal masque

Special to the Echo
With "The Big Band Era" as its theme, the Krewe of Nereids presented its 28th bal masque Saturday, Jan. 22 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

As the orchestra played "It's Magic," the captain made her entrance. Capturing the illusion of those glory years, the captain wore a red and black velvet gown trimmed with appliques of Austrian rhinestones and accented with a fringe of bugle beads. A collar of black plumes and red boa studded with rhinestones enhanced the costume.

Queen Doris XXVIII personified

the spirit of those glory years in an elegant ivory gown of imported Alencon lace studded with Austrian rhinestones and seed pearls.

Following the Nereids tradition, the identities of Queen Doris and her maids are never revealed. The costume of King Nereus XXVIII, Michael D. Richardson, matched in design that of her royal highness.

Both wore mantles of red velvet trimmed in ermine with appliques of musical instruments and notes. Rhinestones encrusted

Galaxy dredging hearing Feb. 10

The Bureau of Marine Resources has set a Feb. 10 public hearing on Galaxy Casino's application to dredge an access channel for its proposed dockside gaming facility off South Beach Boulevard in the Clermont Harbor area.

The 7 p.m. hearing will be in the Hancock County Community Center on Longfellow Road in Waveland.

Galaxy wants to dredge a 1,600-foot by 120-foot channel some 10.7 feet deep in the area south of Sand Bayou and north of Lakeshore Road.

The application calls for a pier and pile-supported boatslip extending some 600 feet from the seawall for access to the facility, and mooring dolphins to secure the gaming vessel. Plans call for a pile-supported driveway to the vessel, and pile-supported fishing and observation areas next to the seawall.

Arson suspected in rural blazes

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Arson is highly suspected in 12 of 16 fires that Hancock County foresters have fought since Jan. 19.

Hancock County forester Mark Jamieson said Tuesday 137 acres of forestland have burned, and another 12 acres of fields, in the latest rash of fires in the county. One fire

REFLECTIONS
ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Be real, not correct

Formerly relegated to animals, neutering is now most notorious in the ongoing process of political correctness. What at first began as a promising voyage toward sexual, ethnic and general sensitivity has become annoying and ridiculous.

To be sure, male chauvinism has left an oppressive legacy of prejudice, discrimination, humiliation, persecution and arrogance down through the centuries. Even Jesus had to buck it to be able to speak to a Samaritan woman in public.

However, while the neutering of language is to some extent gratifying, it is being stretched too far. Mankind, airman and chairman are words which we have adapted without much difficulty. This is the kind of words we should stick to.

Political correctness, or PC, refers to pets as non-human companions and to the elderly as chronologically gifted or, for some, disadvantaged. Sheer baloney. Stay with the pets, and, please, just call me elderly. Elderly is beautiful.

Manhole covers provided to be too much for many of the PC fanatics who, oddly, were not satisfied with personhole. It is no longer feasible to man a ship, vehicle or installation.

However, the worst casualty of the neutering of this term is the poetic phrase, "I fear neither man nor beast." There is absolutely no ring to, "I fear neither person/human nor beast." Besides, since when are women supposed to terrify?

The neutering of the Bible is for the most part acceptable and commendable. Still, I see no cause for getting uptight and bent out of shape if some phrases are retained as they are for the sake of their literary and poetic punch.

It is the general thrust of language, not each specific detail thereof, which should matter to women, men, children and minorities of all ethnic/racial groups and conditions.

That lesson should not be lost on church prayers, hymns and liturgies where PC language, or inclusion, is indeed desirable, yet has often become an annoying fetish.

Also, language can become exceedingly clumsy when one strives relentlessly to make it completely neuter. A textbook case is the statement, "Everyone should bring their books." "Their," of course, avoids his/her — and mutilates English.

In this case, just hand PC, and use his or her. If it consoles you, alternate in your use of his and her when you say or write this kind of sentence on successive occasions. Or just change it: "All of you, bring your books."

Yet, language is the least of the problems spawned by PC. The principal victims may be the very females whose identity, dignity, worth and inclusion are the avowed objectives of the demands and adaptations of political correctness.

Sexual harassment is always wrong, but its definition is becoming ever more muddled since the PC input. What was formerly harmless, playful flirting is now frequently construed as sexual harassment and sexist behavior.

The game of harmless, playful flirting, as well as flirting with a mind to serious introduction and conversation have become things of the wistful past for many, casualties of PC. More than language, male/female relations are being neutered.

Overlooked appears to be the obvious fact that political correctness is not an end in itself, but only a tool by which we hope to adjust the inequities of male chauvinism/sexism.

Miss. Coast History Week

Tullis-Toledano Manor the site of encampment re-enactment

The Mississippi Coast Historical & Genealogical Society will sponsor its 5th annual Mississippi Coast History Week Feb. 7-13.

The 13th will mark the 295th anniversary of the landing of d'Iberville on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The French Flotilla arrived off Ship Island on Feb. 10. After exploring Ship Island, d'Iberville and his men set out on Feb. 13, 1699 to explore the mainland. D'Iberville landed on the shores of the present-day city of Biloxi.

This year's History Week will feature a week of living history with an 18th century French encampment on the grounds of the Tullis-Toledano Manor.

Dressed in clothing of the period, re-enactors will daily demonstrate 18th century French crafts such as: rifle making, sash weaving, leather works, oyster shucking, sewing, period cooking, moss mattress making, also a verbal interpretation off the culture and history of the Gulf Coast Indians with archaeological artifacts.

On Saturday evening activities will continue by campfire, lantern and candlelight.

The public is invited to attend the encampment. There is no admission. The event will be Monday through Friday, Feb. 7-11 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Saturday, Feb. 12, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Sunday, Feb. 13, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

School groups are invited and encouraged to attend. For scheduling school groups, call Mary L. Adkinson, 374-0330 or Julie Suarez, 435-6266.

Diamondhead Baptist Church announces revival services are set for Sunday, Jan. 30 through Wednesday, Feb. 2.

Worship times are Sunday, 10 a.m. and Sunday through Wednesday at 7 p.m. There will also be special Bible studies Monday through Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

Guest speaker is the Rev. Dr. Bill Causey of Clinton. He is executive secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi State Baptist Convention. He served as pastor of Parkway Baptist Church of Jackson for 26 years.

A native of Greenville, Dr. Causey has long been active in community and Southern Baptist affairs. He and his wife, Charlotte, are the parents of three adult children.

The Rev. John Yates, a native of Paragould, Ark. and Yazoo City, will lead the church in music and Christian entertainment.

Rev. Yates provided music and entertainment at last year's revival. The members and visitors enjoyed his ministry so much that he was asked to return.

He ministers through vocal solos, with his trumpet and his ventriloquial figures, "J.J.," "The Professor" and "Sparky the Dinosaur." Rev. Yates presents the message of God's love to all age groups.

The public is invited to attend these special revival sessions. Dr. Fred Womack is pastor of Diamondhead Baptist Church.

improvements. At times, they said, they can't get the permits necessary to build or improve drainage canals in "wetlands" areas.

In general, local officials agreed with Woolsey on the need to prevent drainage problems by controlling development.

He said the Corps can provide some model ordinances which require on-site retention of runoff from developments such as shopping centers. And the Corps can suggest new technologies for that retention, he said.

But Woolsey cautioned that the Corps will not be addressing minor drainage problems which can be handled by local governments.

COUNTY GROWTH

He said he was amazed to learn that Hancock County had seen a population growth of almost 30 percent between 1980 and 1990. Ladner attributed the increase to industrial growth, and to residential building activity in Diamondhead.

He said he's been told 34 building permits were issued for Diamondhead last month—more than in the rest of the entire county.

"This has been a lost county for a long time, but now it's the fastest growing county in the state," Ladner said. And that should continue, he added, as the gaming industry continues to build here and stimulates further growth.

When Woolsey cautioned that uncontrolled growth isn't good planning, Ladner said preliminary work is progressing on a county zoning ordinance and comprehensive plan. The city of Bay St. Louis also is working on a comprehensive plan guiding development.

Woolsey said aside from any construction that the upcoming study may recommend to correct flooding problems, the Corps will provide updated hydrologic studies that will be helpful when the county replaces old culverts and bridges. The older structures probably were built with less than realistic projections of the amount of water they would need to handle, officials said.

While the initial study is paid for with federal funds entirely, any second-phase, detailed study would require a 50-50 federal and local cost match, Woolsey said.

If a project is picked for actual construction, the federal government would pay 75 percent of the cost, with the remainder from local sources, he said.

Depot

that the restoration will serve as the catalyst for other redevelopments downtown.

Aside from federal and local money funds to buy and restore the building, the city has other grant money available to restore and expand the original landscaping on the depot grounds.

The city built a passenger platform and pavilion on the depot site for Amtrak's passenger rail service which started here last spring.

Cuevas resigned her position with the city last fall and joined Community Associates. Her slot with the city remains unfilled. City council members have begun sorting through a stack of applications which have been filed for it.

Meanwhile, the city recently agreed to pay engineers and environmental consultants $2,000 for a preliminary study of the depot site, now owned by CSX Transportation.

The study will determine if the site has suffered any contamination that needs addressing before it changes ownership.

Brown & Mitchell Inc. will be looking for any toxic contamination on the depot grounds. The depot was built as a passenger terminal by L&N Railroad, but was abandoned for public use in the early 1960's when passenger service ceased.

Since then, it has been used mainly as a storage facility by L&N and its successor, CSX Transportation.

Cuevas said with the project total cost hovering around $800,000, the city needs a management team to get it moving.

Project officials have access to the original construction drawings and materials lists, she said, which will help expedite the restoration process. One key element of the remaining project work, she said, is ensuring it passes muster with state and federal historic preservation officials.

If all goes well, Cuevas said, the project could be completed within the year. And if it's done correctly, possibly coming in for less than the anticipated costs, the city could use the old depot project as a launching pad for other redevelopment projects financed with federal agency grants, she said.

Council members asked for a detailed proposal from Community Associates to consider at its next meeting.

back at the station at 5:50 a.m., but continued to check the residence periodically to make sure the fire did not rekindle.

Where there is smoke there is fire, but not necessarily the other way around in the Mitchell's case. She said if it hadn't been for the noise, they wouldn't have awakened, as they didn't smell any smoke. She said the fire had apparently been burning smokeless for about 30 minutes.

"I never realized how black smoke was," she said of the smoke once the fire was in full force. She also said she never realized how things could melt, like pictures, the television, everything...

"I also didn't realize it until afterwards that we could have died," she said.

The Mitchells have several animals, two of which she saw when she ran out with her granddaughter. The dogs wouldn't come with her, so her husband ran back in to look for them. He couldn't find them, and burned some of his hair in the process.

Once firemen arrived they wouldn't let him back in to look for the animals. They were later found, apparently hiding under the bed.

She called one animal a "miracle cat." After sifting through the rubble, firemen pointed to where Mitchell could find the remains of her cat, but when she looked for the cat, it was gone. The pet was okay, only slightly burned, walking around the yard without whiskers.

She said they have been trying to salvage some clothes and other possessions—but to no avail.

For now they are living in a camper in their front yard without electricity until they can get most of the debris cleaned up.

They have no clothes or coats for the cold weather. Some friends gave their granddaughter some clothes and a coat to wear to school.

Except for the loss of her two dogs, she said "everything is okay though, because we're okay."

Anyone wishing to assist the family may call the Mitchells' relatives at 467-0420.

occurred in a cemetery on Flat Top Road, he said.

While four of the fires were attributed to "controlled" burning of brush that got out of hand, another dozen are "highly suspect" in nature and are believed to have been set intentionally, he said.

One 80-acre section between Fenton Road and Runnymede Road was apparently set on fire around 5 p.m. Saturday, Jamieson said. That fire featured numerous areas that apparently had been set ablaze in a closely confined area.

Jamieson urged anyone with information concerning the recent fires to contact the county Fire Tower at 255-7152, or his office at 255-4885, or the Hancock County Sheriff's Department. A $500 reward is offered, he said, for help in the arrest and conviction of arson.

He also said that anyone who wants to burn brush or debris should contact the Fire Tower beforehand to alert them and obtain permission.

Jamieson said area volunteer fire departments assisted the forestry service in putting out many of the recent fires.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It was some cold last week with several mornings of below freezing temperatures.

In comparison with the winter of 1993, we had more cold weather in one week in 1994 than we had in all of 1993.

I know it was cold here Wednesday morning, yet it was much colder in other areas, as it was zero degrees in north Alabama where Randy and I were for two days.

There was a lot of ice skating going on, only the waterfowl was trying to find the very few areas on the lakes without ice.

The sun was shining brightly Wednesday all day, and ice was everywhere, even late in the evening.

Some people like cold weather. I am not one of those folks, as I like the warmer times of the year.

One thing is for sure, we can look forward to warmer days ahead. They just may take some time in getting here.

Those who have drivers licenses to be renewed after February 1 need to remember there will be a new location.

The new location for the Mississippi Highway Patrol licensing in Hancock County will be the Shoreline Park Community Center on the Kiln/Waveland Cutoff Road near Highway 603.

Master Sgt. Ronnie Turan reports the hours, on Tuesdays only, will be from 8 a.m.-noon and 1-4:30 p.m.

The new facility offers ample parking and has two restrooms, and its location is convenient to all residents of the county, Sgt. Turan reports.

It is good that Bay St. Louis is getting an ordinance outlawing the discharge of firearms within its city limits.

I know there are some who discharge firearms to celebrate the new year, and this is very dangerous. There is an old saying, 'what goes up must come down,' and this is what happens with the discharge of firearms into the air.

The City of New Orleans had several injuries from stray bullets at the beginning of the New Year from gun discharges.

Those found guilty of discharging a firearm within Bay St. Louis, once the ordinance is passed, can receive a fine of $500 and/or 30 days in jail.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Legislative Reception in Jackson is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 7, 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The reception is to be held at the Holiday Inn Downtown and is sponsored by the Coastal Chambers of Commerce and Economic Development Agencies in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties.

There will be bus service available for only $20 round trip per person. Cindy Vernon reports the buses will be brand new this year.

This is a good opportunity for coastal businessmen to chat with our state legislators in the state's Capitol. I made the trip last year and really enjoyed the experience.

Some 30 local Gulf Coast restaurants will be providing their specialties.

The food was great last year, especially the desserts, and I am told there will be more this time.

The bus is to leave the Hancock County chamber's office at noon on Feb. 7, with the final departure from the Orange Grove chamber's office on Highway 49 at 1:30 p.m.

For further information, call the chamber at 467-9048.

Don't forget, the chamber's Morning Edition is set for 7:30 a.m. Friday at St. Stanislaus Library.

The presentation will include SSC's 140th Anniversary, and entertainment will be by the SSC Barbershop Quartet.

I hope to see you at the Morning Edition.

Food Pantry donation

SGT. Christopher L. Rauxet and SPC David S. Bradley are shown delivering can goods donated to the Hancock County Food Pantry. The food was from members of Detachment 1, 1355th Quartermaster Company. These donated foods were welcomed by the Food Pantry due to the fact the pantry's supply was depleted from the holidays. Goods can still be donated Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to noon, to the Food Pantry located behind the Hancock County Courthouse.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Fairness Doctrine unneeded says Taylor

It has been labeled by proponents as an issue based on fairness in broadcasting. However, I would say there are few South Mississippians who agree, simply because of the many who have contacted me in recent months to voice their opposition to the obscure communications bill.

The bill in question is the "Fairness Doctrine." Many South Mississippians may be familiar with the Federal Communications Commission's Fairness Doctrine. The FCC law was a provision of the Communications Act of 1934, and had been FCC policy for over 30 years until the FCC terminated it in 1987.

Since the Fairness Doctrine's death in 1987, there have been several attempts by Congress to resuscitate the policy.

The most recent attempt would require broadcasters to present the opportunity for opposing views, whether conservative or liberal. However, the doctrine would not require broadcasters to provide opposing viewpoints with equal time or in the same radio or television time period, which was past FCC policy.

In any case, a revised FCC Fairness Doctrine would certainly add to a broadcaster's cost of doing business. Broadcasters would be required to rearrange their formats so their programming as a whole would meet the new policy guidelines.

I believe a majority of our nation's and Mississippi's broadcasters already adhere to their own self-imposed guidelines, which often exceed the rules and regulations of their FCC licensing agreement. Additionally, with so much diversity on television and on radio today, I simply don't believe we need additional government intervention to broaden an individual broadcaster's program format.

The Fairness Doctrine was initially implemented when rabbit-ear antenna received only ABC, CBS and NBC on a black and white television, Eisenhower was president, and most people tuned their radio dial to the same station.

Today, things are much different. From Christian broadcasting to home shopping channels, programs are now designed for specific audiences much like magazines were designed around the turn of the century to target specific readers.

The simple reason the Fairness Doctrine should not be resurrected during this Congress is because it is archaic and no longer needed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bomb threat prankster should consider repercussions

Dear Editor,

This is an appeal to the person responsible for the "bomb call" to Notre Dame Apartments last Sunday evening.

Please think through your actions and realize that the "scare" could affect someone's heart adversely; others could get pneumonia from exposure to the cold, and still others suffer from arthritic pain due to being evacuated hurriedly.

In the name of Jesus, please consider carefully the possibilities involved (for your own sake as well as ours.)

Sincerely,
Corinne Bontemps

Diamondhead boat parade marred by drinking

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on an event which took place during the holidays.

My family and I attended the Diamondhead Boat Parade. It was a pleasant scene, until the final boat — carrying Santa Claus — docked. What was not so pleasant was watching the people on that boat disembark.

Many small children watched as the first person climbed off the boat — carrying a beer. As more people followed, I could smell alcohol on them as they walked past.

I was pretty disgusted by the scene and decided to leave. As we were doing so, we watched a man walk to a boat carrying a large, half-empty bottle of liquor, climb in and drive off. It made me wonder if he were driving drunk, and that was a scary thought.

I was very disappointed in the parade's finale because of this incident. We do not plan to attend again.

What was also disappointing was to watch so many people there be so involved in drinking to celebrate Christ's birthday, to have such little regard for the impression they made on young children.

Sincerely,
Susan Stephens

Permanent zoning needed to keep out more casinos

Dear Editor:

The enclosed verse, "Mississippi" was written by my sister, Mary Craig Sinclair, wife of author Upton Sinclair. The poem brings to mind many of the beautiful sights on the Coast 70 years ago, before technology's advance speeded up our leisurely lives of the past, and before Las Vegas-type gambling ships took over Mississippi's beautiful coastline (with our county supervisors and politicians looking on approvingly).

MISSISSIPPI

By Mrs. Upton Sinclair
nee/Mary Craig Kimbrough
Greenwood/Gulfport, MS

Where a changing, sapphire sea
Reaching to eternity
Beats a tireless symphony —
MISSISSIPPI!

Where an alabaster strand
Stretching like a silver band
On the border of the land —
MISSISSIPPI!

Where the ivory dunes are bright,
Swirl on swirl of gleaming white,
Like a snow-storm in sunlight
MISSISSIPPI!

Where the shining homes are flung

In the pine-land, flower strung,
Jewels on Earth's bosom hung

MISSISSIPPI!

Recently I asked the editor of a media paper, "What is your position on these gambling ships?" "I am neutral," he said quickly. "I'm in a hurry to take some photographs."

As he rushed off, I looked at his paper's full-page advertisement for a gambling ship. Money speaks! Green and "something for nothing" are not good lessons for our youngsters. The gambling ships have caused traffic problems, sewage problems, financial problems, and gambling addiction problems for our citizens.

The jobs they have brought to our area may be seen as a benefit — but at my age (93) I tend to look at things in the long-term. The damage to our views of sparkling water, to our wildlife, and to our citizens is permanent. The jobs may not be.

Please! No more casinos! We need permanent zoning guidelines and some way to protect our coastline's beauty for future generations. Please rise up to preserve our quality of life. The voters allowed gaming. The voters can say, "It's time to stop."

Sincerely,
Hunter S. Kimbrough

Save our surplus funds rather than spend more

Dear Editor:

Ever notice how one charitable donation seems to unleash dozens of requests from other charities?

Or if you purchase an item from a mail order firm you'll receive catalogs from other companies?

And if you allow politicians to tax you 25 cents you'll soon be paying $1 or more — see your phone bill, electric bill, water and sewer bill — not only have rates gone up, but the add-ons keep adding up: 911 service, telecommunication training, extra cost fuel, environmental controls and others.

Everywhere one turns there are hidden taxes — 56 on a loaf of bread not counting sales tax.

With such a heavy and growing tax burden our Legislature should use the current surplus in a wise way: save it.

That $150 to $250 million surplus placed in no-load mutual funds should double in value every 5 years or so.

In a year or two we could begin drawing millions from the fund, and still it would grow. Doesn't having "money in the bank" sound better than letting the Legislature squander millions on pet projects?

Perhaps with these extra millions every year we could lower the cost of auto tags.

If you agree it sounds like a good idea, then write our Legislators and urge them to act responsibly for the good of all people in Mississippi for years and years.

Regards,
Royce P. Kaupp

the crowns and scepters of their royal majesties.

Memorable melodies of the big band era came alive as maids and dukes of the 1994 royal court were presented. The maids and dukes were costumed to represent different musical instruments played in the big bands.

Entering to the melody of Jimmy Dorsey's ever-popular hit, "Green Eyes," the maid representing the clarinet wore a lavender and blue lame gown featuring a sequined applique of a clarinet.

"Moonlight Serenade" accompanied the entrance of the maid symbolizing the trombone, who was dressed in green lame with a hologram glitter design.

Hoagy Carmichael's classic love song, "Stardust," announced the maid who portrayed the grand piano. Her costume was of black velvet, richly adorned with hologram glitter and complemented with a cape applied with piano keys.

The maid depicting the horns of the orchestra displayed her gown of fuchsia sequin cloth to Artie Shaw's unforgettable melody of romance, "Dancing in the Dark."

Appliques of drums on blue lame brocade accented the gown of the maid who entered to the sound of Hal Kemp's memorable theme song, "Sunrise Serenade."

The maid exemplifying the bass fiddle wore a brocade costume of yellow and gold. Richly plumed headpieces duplicated the design of each costume.

At the captain's whistle, the tableau unfolded. USO hostesses welcomed men and women of the Armed Forces as the Chattanooga Choo-Choo arrived. Then, those college kids dropped into the USO to perform the latest dance craze, "The Big Apple," followed by children of Nereids members who performed in the Barnum & Bailey clown troupe.

The royal court, caught up in the magic of the great band era, treated their royal subjects to a grand musical promenade accompanied by the sounds of those big bands.

A series of music and dance extravaganzas concluded the evening as Nereids members jitterbugged, tapped and danced their way into a film clip of Kate Smith introducing "God Bless America" to a victorious country ready to celebrate those memorable glory years.

Dukes to his majesty were Messrs. Bobby R. Messer Sr., Kelly Cannon, Gene Stanbro, Craig W. Foster, David Turcotte and Allyn D. Combs.

Trainbearers to her majesty were Miss Ashley Elizabeth Smith and Masters Bryce Eugene Breland, Jeffrey John Hansell Jr. and Brian Doyle Webb.

The Nereids parade will be Sunday, February 6.

California resident seeks pet

Ross Honhart has spent the last eight days of his vacation passing out posters of his 14-year-old mixed Labrador.

Honhart, a gold prospector from Grass Valley, Calif., said the dog ran off when he was let out early one morning at a Waveland motel on Highway 90.

"He is mild mannered, friendly and doesn't bark," he said. "He has survived a number of odysseys before, but he is older and doesn't see or hear as well as he used to."

Honhart spends several hours a day in the Kmart parking lot, showing pictures of "Jake" in hopes that someone has seen him.

The dog is wearing two identification tags, one listing a California telephone number. Honhart is offering a reward and may be reached at 467-7254.

Casino Magic gets nod for St. Louis, Mo. development

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Casino Magic Corp. and Caesars World Inc. have been recommended as developers and operators of a $210 million dockside casino complex on the St. Louis, Mo., waterfront.

A selection committee in St. Louis tapped the team from among six proposals to develop the city's historic Laclede's Landing.

Before the deal is finalized, however, the partnership has to negotiate a lease with the city for the site, and win approval from various city government authorities, including the city Board of Aldermen.

Casino Magic, with casinos in Bay St. Louis and Biloxi, brought officials and business representatives from St. Louis here several months ago to tour the local casino operation and to meet with local business people.

If the Missouri partnership wins final approval from the city, plans call for construction of a replica riverboat casino with a hotel and parking facilities. The complex will operate under the name of Caesars Magic Casino.

Partnership officials said the Nevada-based Caesars World and Casino Magic each will own approximately 37.5 percent of the joint venture company, with the remainder owned by minority and female investors.

The joint venture, known as Gateway Casino Co., offers to pay the city of St. Louis 9 percent of gaming revenues, escalating to 10 and 11 percent in the future, plus a share of casino profits, officials said. The development is hoped to spur tourism and economic development for the entire St. Louis waterfront area.

Marlin Torguson, president and chief executive officer of Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis, said the selection committee made a "very thorough and professional review of the proposals. We look forward to presenting our proposal to other city officials and the Board of Aldermen as the approval process continues."

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

MARDI GRAS

Before Spring comes carnival, and "Mardi Gras is alive and well" in Diamondhead.

Saturday, Jan. 29, their royal majesties King Alii Honua XIX William Bahner and his Queen (wife) Billie, will preside at the Krewe of Diamondhead's ball at the country club.

Saturday, Feb. 12, starting at the community center at 1 p.m. will be the "Diamondhead Salutes Broadway" parade.

Not one but two Mardi Gras krewes for Diamondhead. The Boaters Association, in conjunction with the Krewe of Kamehameha, honor their majesties King Akua Kai XX Ted Szalag and his Queen Gloria Gasper at their ball Saturday, Feb. 5 at the Broadwater Tower in Biloxi.

Ending the festivities will be the Boater's Parade Pot Luck Anything Goes on Sunday, Feb. 13 at 2 p.m. Le Bon Temps route!

YOUTH ART JAMBOREE

Tickets are on sale now at Diamondhead Discount Drugs, Ellen Kane Gifts, Bookends, Jeanne Anne's Hallmark, or by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope to DPAS, P.O. Box 6028, Diamondhead 39525. Adults, $7, child, $3.

On Saturday, Feb. 5 at 10 a.m. at the Bay High Auditorium, the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society presents The Steel Bandits, the multi-talented George family.

After the performance, exhibition booths will be located throughout the lobby area to give information and encourage youths to participate in the arts, such as voice, dance, acting and musical instruments. The idea behind this performance is to motivate young people in the community.

Vice president Sharon Loicano of the Bay Fine Arts Association says, "We want these talented young people to know what's out there for them." Hope to see you there.

YOUTH THEATER

Anyone interested in starting an independent youth theater in Diamondhead is asked to please call Dick Alnes at 255-7172 with ideas and information.

All youths in our Coast communities would be welcome to participate. Dick reminds us of the Karaoke Sing group's contest on Feb. 4 at 6 p.m. at the country club. The contest will be about 8:30 p.m.

BRRRR!

There were lots of cold hands and feet for those ladies (members) attending the Diamondhead Garden Club meeting last Wednesday, Jan. 19.

The community center had problems with the heat. For the brave ones who stayed on, the slide presentation on antique roses by Maureen Detweiler from New Orleans, was wonderful.

Four lucky ladies (I was one) received cuttings from some of Maureen's favorites. We can't wait for Spring.

FIGHT DIABETES

Bring your dancing shoes and be in that "line" with Ruth and Charlie Olivier Friday, Jan. 28 at "Michaels" in the Best Western Sea View Inn on Hwy. 49, 8 p.m. to midnight.

The cost is $5 per person, and the proceeds go to the American Diabetes Foundation of Mississippi.

It's great fun and exercise, and you'll be helping a very worthy cause.

The Oliviers welcome all who love to dance, singles, couples, to their class in Diamondhead every Tuesday and Wednesday at the community center.

SUPPORT GROUP

The Diamondhead Diabetes Support Group will have Ms. Ginger Blard, who will present some interesting ways and means of coping with the disease at their meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 1, 7 p.m. at the community center. Everyone is welcome to attend.

CALLING ALL SINGERS

The Bay Area Chorale, under the direction of Joy Mehrtens, is gearing up for their spring concert in April.

Voices are needed such as basses, tenors, altos. If you like to sing in the shower, or just like to sing, come out and join this group on Tuesday nights at 7 at the Diamondhead Baptist Church.

For more information, call Joy at 452-3539, or Margaret at 255-1317.

NEW FACES

We have some new proprietors at the yacht club. Mr. and Mrs. Margiotta from Long Beach have taken over the "helm." We welcome them to our community and wish them well.

I hear the food has been good. When the weather warms up, wouldn't it be great to have our yacht club facility open again at lunch time so folks can take in the beautiful view?

Mardi Gras festivities begin to fill calendar

Diamondhead Square and Compass Club president Bill Horner, right, presents the check for the pager to Diamondhead Fire Chief Dennis Westbrook at a meeting of the club.

Hancock Holding reports results

Hancock Holding Company announced results for the year ended Dec. 31, 1993. Net income for 1993 increased to $22.1 million compared with $19.2 million for 1992.

Earnings per share amounted to $3.15 on 7.0 million average shares outstanding, up from $2.74 on the same number of average shares outstanding in 1992.

Leo W. Seal Jr., president and chief executive officer, said, "Increased earnings for the year 1993 can be attributed to deposit growth exceeding 8%, which funded new loans and investments and a lower level of loan losses."

Reading

Cold winter days provide the perfect opportunity to hit the books

When freezing temperatures keep many families indoors, parents may be looking for entertainment that will keep their young children busy. University of Mississippi elementary education instructor Clara Moulds believes reading can be a fun activity at any time for any age.

A child is more easily encouraged to read if they see their parents reading, Moulds said. Also, reading time should be enjoyable, she said, not an opportunity for a parent to drill his or her child on reading skills.

For other ideas, she suggested parents read "The New Read-a-loud Handbook" by Jim Trelease or "More Than the ABC's: The Early Stages of Reading and Writing" by Judith A. Schickedanz.

She also offers these tips to help parents find the right books for their children:

AGES 1-3
— Large, simple and clear pictures with vivid detail is the key to books for very young children. This age group is interested in books about people, animals and real-life objects.

— Books made of stiff cardboard are easier for young hands to manipulate. Books with flimsy paper pages can be frustrating to young children with undeveloped motor skills.

— Suggested book titles: "Cats to Count," Mother Goose

Rhymes, "Goodnight Moon" and "Very Hungry Caterpillar."

AGES 3-5
— Look for books that match text to pictures. Kids this age may be beginning to read. "Children should be able to look at the picture and know what the text says," Moulds related. "They use pictures to guess at new words." Also, look for books with repetitive lines.

— People, animals and real-life situations, such as celebrations, usually will interest 3-, 4- and 5-year-olds. Be sure to include books about other cultures, Moulds said. Some parents look only for books about counting and ABC's, she pointed out.

— Suggested book titles: "The Napping House," "My Five Senses," "Three Billy Goats Gruff," "Corduroy," and "Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible, No Good Day."

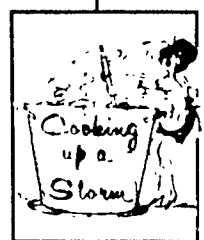

AGES 6-8
— Let children choose their own books. By knowing what your child's interests are, you may be able to assist your youngster in finding books he or she will like.

— Don't forget to read to your child. Mould said too often once a child begins to read, a parent stops reading aloud. "When a child learns to talk, you don't stop talking to him," the Ole Miss instructor said. "The same should be true of reading. There are benefits to reading aloud to children of all ages."

One is that a child's hearing level may be above his or her reading level. For example, by reading aloud to a child ages 7 or 8, you may help enlarge the youngster's vocabulary beyond those words he or she already recognizes.

— Suggested book titles: "Thomas' Snow Suit," "Stone Soup," "Where the Wild Things Are," "Charlotte's Web" and "The Velveteen Rabbit."

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

The cold and rainy, rainy weather, dreary as could be, set my taste buds a-tingle for something hearty and filling and hot — in seasonings as well as temperature, something to chase away those rainy-day blues. How about you?

So, I checked the larder for the "makings" and decided on a zesty chili, since there was some good ground beef in the fridge, and all the other ingredients were on hand. Meat loaf or spaghetti sauce just wouldn't fill the bill, so chili was the choice.

At first thought you might suppose that chili is a Mexican dish, but not so — it's a North American dish of Texas and Southwest origin. Credit for its birth as a culinary mainstay is largely given to some unknown chuckwagon cook long years ago on the trail.

Faced with a camp full of hungry cowboys and an almost empty larder, such as some beans and cornbread and not-so-fresh beef, the "cookie" improvised a stew of sorts, tossed some hot peppers into it and stirred it all together.

When the range riders lined up for seconds, the cook was amazed and kept on cooking up his chili along the trail. The nation as a whole, we are told, got its first taste of chili at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago back in 1893; at San Antonio's "Chilley stand." (To clear up any confusion, Chili is the dish, and Chile is the pepper. Chili powdered is typically a combination of chile peppers, cumin, salt, cayenne and oregano.)

Of course, there are as many ways to make chili, I suppose, as there are chili makers. Some frown at the thought of adding red beans to their chili; others find the chili incomplete without them. Some add only water as the liquid; others swear by tomatoes and tomato sauce or paste.

Some like their chili inoffensively bland; others, such as myself, prefer to "hotten it" up to the limit. Some make their chili with chunks of beef; other prefer ground beef.

I like my chili beanless; but regardless of what the purists say, beans are an inexpensive and tasty way to stretch out a pot of chili, and I must confess that I have often done so through the years when extra diners showed up at the table.

In fact, when my sons were growing up, I often made a huge pot of chili for Sunday supper, with extra cans of tomatoes and beans on hand for swift stirring into the chili. It was not as "meaty" as one could wish, but tasty, as well as a big help, for we never knew how many teenagers would show up at the supper table! So, here's:

OLD IRON POT CHILI

(That's how I make my chili, an old Cast Iron Dutch Oven, which is older than I am.) And, a word of caution: Go easy on the chili powder and hot peppers at first. You can always add more, but of course, you can't take the heat out, once it's in!

(This is really too easy to write as a recipe — but:
1 ½ lbs. ground round (beef)
1 large onion, chopped
3 Tblsp. oil
4 Tblsp. chili powder
Salt, pepper
Cayenne pepper, hot pepper

Chili warms winter chills sauce as desired

1 can tomatoes, undrained (16 oz.)

1 can tomato sauce (6 oz.)
Heat the oil and brown the meat, pouring off the grease. Add the onions and cook until soft. Add tomatoes and sauce and seasonings, and simmer for 45 minutes or up to an hour, correcting the seasonings as you go, adding water as needed. I add more "heat" at this point.

If you wish, add leftover red beans or 2 cans of red (kidney) beans, mix it all up — and enjoy! (6 or more servings)

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

● STICK TO THE FACTS
Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

● BE HONEST
Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyer's trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

● SPELL IT OUT
Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pace over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

● THE BOTTOM LINE
State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

● BE THERE
List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

● ASK US
If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Hot diddle, dingle dangle, wam-rock. I finally found a place where real people caught some fish! I mean things were starting to get to the point of desperation amid much moaning, groaning and gnashing of teeth.

Occasional bad thoughts were crossing the minds of the fishin' buddies. I mean really bad thoughts such as ... work! Well, people banish those thoughts from your mind. Ya see, out of desperation the Turtle went to the (ugh) freshwater fishing scene.

Man, you know things are tough if the Turtle was forced to check out the freshwater scene.

Anyway, as I was motoring around in the turtlemobile, this wonderful smell permeated (how ya like that word?) my nostrils. There is nothing in the world like the smell of fresh fish to get the old ticker pumping big time.

Bayou LaCrosse Marina had enough fresh fish come into the dock to create a panic for the folks who have lived through the current drought of saltwater fish.

In fact, if you brought your salt shaker along, you could even dream that they were saltwater fish the fishermen were bringing into the dock.

Rita, the head honcho at the marina, tells me the number one fisherman this past week was Paul Ladner. Paul put the big-time hurt on the sac-a-lait with live minnows. It seems that Paul started out real early like with about 50 or so live minnows.

Along about 3 he ran out of minnows and had to come back to the dock for more. Did not hear what the final count was, but when he came to the dock the first time, he had 22 beautiful white perch. They all went better than hand-size. That ain't bad.

Rita reports most fishermen caught perch, while some folks caught some really nice bass in and around the bayou.

She said the most successful fishermen fished with live minnows in at least eight feet of water. The best method was to let the minnow work the bottom.

The folks at this marina are true fishermen (?) and as such the only reasonable accurate information I could get as to where the fish are biting is, they are somewhere past the first cut on East Bayou in about eight feet of water.

Other than that bit of information, the general consensus is that the fish are biting with their mouth. Or, the fish are in the water.

The information deteriorated very rapidly after a very brief span of time. For example: T. C. Thomas related he caught a fish that was so big and so heavy that he pulled the head off the fish trying to get him into the boat.

W. T. Lambert assured me the best way to cook perch is to put them on a pizza. But, when the next guy informed me that he caught fish the other day, and the fish were so cold that he needed to put a shot of rum on the fish, sorta like antifreeze, to find out if the fish were really alive. That's when I felt it might be time to leave the Bayou LaCrosse Marina.

Freshwater fishing yields white perch

I don't know why, but I was beginning to feel that some of the fish reports I was getting were a little imaginative to say the least.

Talked to a fellow by the name of Charles Hamrick about the fishin' in the Jourdan River area. Charlie is a man to warm the hearts of all fishermen. He raises his own worms. He catches his own bait for his crab traps. He catches his own bait for his trot line.

He also says that the only reason for a man to work is to get money to go fishin'. That certainly sounds reasonable to me. Although our spouses might have some other thoughts.

Charlie has an interesting bit of religious philosophy that he related to me. He says that "the Ole Boy upstairs only gave us a limited number of days on this world. It would be a sin not to use the days he has given us to the maximum. Fishin' is obviously the best way to get the maximum use of our limited number of days."

Jourdan River is producing some nice catfish on trot line that are baited with small google-eye perch. A few specks are being caught between the I-10 bridge and the area called the Lakes. Only to watch out for in this area is, if you do catch a fish, a magic thing occurs; 50 boats suddenly appear right next to you.

This week's wonderful wise words: I am beginning to think some fishermen tell tall tales. No, huh!

What does a dingle-dangle wam-rock look like, Turtle?

JV Tigers drop one to Hawks

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Bay High junior varsity Tigers dropped a game to the Hancock Hawks January 25 by the score of 52-41.

The score at the half was 21-17 in favor of the Hawks. The Hawks poured on a second-half surge the Tigers just could not withstand and outscored them 31-24 in the second half.

The Tigers were led by Randall Knight with 12 points. He was followed by Reggie Williams with 8 points.

Coach Barney Necaise commented, "It was a total team effort that I was proud of. We kept pressure on them the whole night. Knight had a great game in his first starting assignment."

Tigers defeat Hornets in triple overtime

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Bay High Tigers entertained the East Central Hornets, taking one of two games from them.

In boys action, the Tigers got their third win of the season in a triple overtime win over the visiting Hornets Tuesday.

The Tigers were outscored 14-7 and 25-20 in the first half of the game, but the Tigers fought back and outscored the Hornets 36-29 to tie the game at the end of regulation.

In the first overtime, neither team scored a point. In the second overtime, each team added 6 points to their total.

In the third overtime, it was Shaun Piernas with a last second tip-in to lift the Tigers over the Hornets.

The win brings the Tigers record to 3-18.

GIRLS VARSITY

In girls action, the Lady Hornets won a low scoring contest 35-29.

The Lady Hornets led at half-time 23-7, but the Lady Tigers turned the tables to outscore the Lady Hornets 22-12 in the second half.

The first half showing from the Hornets was just too much for the Tigers to overcome.

Lisa Yarborough led the Tigers with 8 points and Valerie Christmas grabbed 13 rebounds.

OLA storms thru tourney

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Our Lady Academy Crescents won the Ocean Springs Invitational Soccer Tournament Friday and Saturday.

OLA defeated Long Beach, Mercy Cross, and Hattiesburg to advance to the championship game against Ocean Springs. The Crescents then defeated the Ocean Springs Lady Greyhounds 3-0 for the championship.

In the first game on Friday, the Crescents defeated Long Beach by the score of 2-0.

Kathryn Scaife scored on an assist by Erin O'Brien, who in turn scored on an assist by Scaife.

Coach Harry Hull commented, "The girls played a little flat on Friday but really came around on Saturday when they had to play three games."

On Saturday the Crescents defeated Mercy Cross 3-0 in the first game.

Nikki Krost scored the first goal unassisted. Andie Fillingame scored the next goal on an assist by Nikki Krost. Erin O'Brien scored the last goal on a corner kick.

In the second game of the day for OLA, the Crescents defeated Hattiesburg by the score of 3-0.

Erin O'Brien scored on an assist by Nikki Krost. Nikki Krost scored the second goal on an assist by Andie Fillingame. The final goal was punched in by Erin O'Brien, unassisted.

In the championship game, Nikki Krost opened the scoring spree with an assist from Erin O'Brien. Krost also scored the second goal unassisted. Erin O'Brien ended the scoring with a goal on an assist by Andie Fillingame.

Said Coach Hull, "The key to us winning the game against Ocean Springs was the performance of our fullback line and goalie: Marion Labat, Gwyn Krost, Shalon Bradley, Lindy Heitzmann, and Annette Morel."

Coach Hull continued, "Erin

O'Brien had an excellent overall tournament performance, and Nikki Krost added the offensive punch that we needed. Our players coming off the bench were major keys in our depth."

OLA ends season undefeated

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The OLA Crescents defeated Mercy Cross on Monday 4-0 and came back on Tuesday to defeat Biloxi by the same score. The Crescents finished the regular season undefeated at 18-0-1.

All members of the team played during the contest against the Mercy Cross Crusaders.

Nikki Krost ignited the Crescents by scoring three of the goals. Krost scored on two assist by Andie Fillingame and on an assist by Kathryn Scaife. Erin O'Brien added the remaining goal on an assist by Kathryn Scaife.

In the last game of the season, the OLA Crescents defeated the visiting Biloxi Lady Indians by the score of 4-0.

Again, Krost provided half of the Crescents' offense. Krost scored two goals coming on assists from Erin O'Brien and Annette Morel. Erin O'Brien scored a goal unassisted.

Andie Fillingame ended the scoring with a goal on an assist by Erin O'Brien.

Although the regular season has ended, the Crescents might be invited to play in the Vicksburg/Warren Central soccer tournament March 24-26, as the teams in the Northern half of the state play their soccer season on the spring.

Rocks handle Hawks, Bearcats rout SSC

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws defeated the Hancock Hawks on January 21 by the score of 76-68.

The visiting Rocks jumped out to a 34-22 lead at halftime behind the play of Brandon Benoit and Terry Lawyer.

The Hawks mounted a strong comeback by outscoring the Rocks in the second half 46-42. However, the Rocks held on for the victory behind a game high of 21 points from Vince Moran including four 3-pointers.

Brandon Benoit added 21 points and Terry Lawyer chipped in 18 points.

The Rocks also entertained the Long Beach Bearcats, and arguably the Coast's best player, Marcus Bullard, on Tuesday at the Brother Peter Memorial Gym.

In junior varsity action, the Long Beach Bearcats upset the Rocks by the score 61-57.

It was a close game at the half with Long Beach leading by a mere three points, 29-26.

The difference in the game was the third period, as the Rocks were outscored by Long Beach 18-9 in the third and 32-21 for the second half. Jumanee Peterson led the Rocks with 20 points. Mike Magee and Brian Thigpen each added 10 points.

Rory Polson led the bearcats with 21 points and Jason Eaves added 19 points.

In varsity action, the Long Beach Bearcats stormed out of the SSC gym with a 91-73 win.

The game was a hard-fought contest in the first half with Long Beach taking a 42-37 lead into the locker room at the intermission.

With about a minute to go in the first half, SSC pulled within one point with a Terry Lawyer floorer in the paint.

However, with 10 seconds to go Marcus Bullard stole the pass and scored off a jumper. Then Bullard repeated the same play and added a little authority with a one-handed jam from the baseline.

Long Beach took the momentum into the locker room.

The second half proved to be as exciting as the first half to a certain degree. The Rocks ended up being outscored 49-36 in the second half, but not without putting up a fight.

With almost 5 minutes to go in the third period, the Rocks went up 49-47 on a Brandon Benoit jumper. That was the only lead they would see from here on out.

Marcus Bullard stepped in and took over the game.

Bullard started his offensive blitzkrieg with a slam to tie the game 49-49 just two seconds later. It was all Long Beach from there.

All of SSC's starting five were in double figures. The Rocks were led by Vince Moran with 15 points, 4 rebounds and 2 assists. He was helped by Hector Hernandez who added 14 points and 9 boards. Nathan Middleton and Brandon Benoit each chipped in 13 points. Terry Lawyer scored 12 points and grabbed 12 boards.

Marcus Bullard led all scorers with 42 points, followed by teammate Mark Williams with 32 points. These two scorers combined to beat the Rocks.

The next action for the Rocks is Friday against the D'Iberville Warriors.

Junior Rocks in tourney

This past weekend, the St. Stanislaus Junior High soccer team participated in an invitational tournament sponsored by Mandeville Junior High.

The young Rocks failed to pick up a win, but their performance yielded some promising results. Playing against teams made up of eighth grade students, the predominantly seventh grade squad kept most of the contests close.

Providing the scoring throughout the day were Jimmy Saucier with one goal and one assist, and Edson Ocana with two goals. Mark Gagnon also had one assist.

Also included in the offense were Nick Middleton, Kile Foster, Jason Rieben, Alejandro Portales, Brian Geiger, Kyle Kidd and Jeremy Edwards.

Defensively, the Rock-a-chaws attacked with Brandon Everett, Jonathan Gagnon, Roger Ridgeway, Cameron Schwartz, and Chad Ourso. Justin Wadsworth handled the goalkeeping responsibilities.

The team will finish their season this coming Friday at home against the Mandeville Junior High eighth grade team. Game time is scheduled for 5:15.

Bearcats take three from Tigers

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Bay High Tigers dropped three games to the Long Beach Bearcats January 20.

In girls action, the Bay High Lady Tigers dropped a 73-48 decision to the Bearkittens.

Long Beach held a commanding 43-22 lead at halftime. However, the Lady Tigers were only outscored 30-27 in the second half. The Bearkittens came out and jumped on the Lady Tigers. Bay High was not able to recover.

Leading the attack for the Tigers were Valerie Christmas with 15 points and 8 rebounds, followed by Octavia McKay with 7 points and 6 boards.

In junior varsity action, the Bearcats defeated the Tigers by the score of 55-45.

The halftime score was 25-19 in favor of the Bearcats. Making the difference in the game was the third period when Long Beach outscored the Tigers 17-8 and 30-25 for the half.

The Tigers were led by Randall Knight who had 20 points in only his second start of the season. He was followed by Reggie Williams with 8 points.

Coach Barney Necaise commented, "We had that bad third period. Also we didn't have a balanced scoring attack."

In varsity action, the Long Beach Bearcats dismantled the Bay High Tigers 92-65.

The Tigers were outscored 26-6 in the first period which set the tone for the game. The halftime score was a commanding 52-26 lead in favor of the Bearcats.

The Tigers were only outscored 40-39 in the second half, but the damage had already been done.

Marcus Bullard led all scorers and Long Beach with 27 points.

Robert Vonture led the Tigers with 17 points and 8 rebounds. Gerald Watson followed with 10 points and 10 rebounds. Terran Tillman chipped in 15 points for the Tigers.

Coach Necaise stated, "We had a horrible first period on both offense and defense. Plus we were playing the best team in the district who has the best player on the Coast. We were outmanned but we played hard all night."

CONSUMER UPDATE

New bond program for homebuyers

By Janet Lukens
Area Consumer Money
Management Specialist

A new mortgage bond revenue program will provide considerable assistance for Mississippi homebuyers. Features of the mortgage program include a favorable interest rate, up to 100% financing and a 4% cash advance to assist with closing costs and downpayment.

Participation in the program will require a non-refundable $200 fee. VA, FmHA and FHA will all participate in the program.

Eligible families must meet a variety of criteria including the following:

— To qualify, you cannot have owned or held an ownership interest in a principal residence at any time during the past three years.

Total gross annual family income must fall at or below various income limits set for each area of the state. For the South Mississippi area, income limits are set at about four different levels.

In George, Greene, Pearl River and Stone counties the limits are $32,160 for one- or two-member families and $37,520 for three or more members in a family.

For Hancock County and most of Harrison County, the income limit for one or two-member families is $28,400. The limit with three or more in the family is $32,660.

For selected areas of Harrison County, income limits are slightly higher, $34,080 and $39,760. For Jackson County, limits are $32,900 and $37,835.

Gross family income includes virtually all sources of income.

Potential applicants should remember to include salaries and wages, child support, alimony, separate maintenance payments, payments from trusts, annuities, inheritance and insurance, pensions and retirement funds, rental income, investment income and self-employment income plus any depreciation added back to the self-employment income.

— Loans are subject to a maximum acquisition cost dependent upon the area in which the homebuyer is locating.

The cost limits for George, Greene, Pearl River, Stone and parts of Harrison County are $88,220 for a new residence and $73,040 for an existing residence.

Other portions of Harrison

County are restricted to $81,180 for new residences and $41,400 for existing residences. For Jackson and Hancock County, maximum acquisition cost is $81,180 for a new residence and $59,760 for an existing residence.

— Participating borrowers must agree to use the house as their permanent, principal residence with 60 days of closing.

— Borrowers cannot use the loan to replace an existing mortgage, except in the case of temporary financing of less than 24 months.

— Program participants must agree not to rent the property.

Loans may be used to purchase dwellings which fall under several categories including single family detached, single family attached, condominiums, and manufactured homes permanently affixed to land.

I hope many South Mississippi residents will take advantage of the substantial benefits this program offers.

For more information, contact your lender or the Mississippi Home Corporation at 354-6062.

ASK THE V.A.

By Donald Mauffray

Recommendations for solving the huge backlog of unresolved veterans' disability claims are still months away, says a top official of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. Solutions can come none too soon.

The backlog of unresolved compensation and pension claims has soared in the past few years. In 1990, the VA had a backlog of 377,000 unresolved claims. Approximately 600,000 such claims were unresolved in 1993, almost a 50 percent increase.

"At that rate, unless the rate of increase is checked, the backlog will total more than one million by the end of 1994," said John Vogel, the VA's acting undersecretary for compensation.

One of the reasons is that it now takes longer to process a claim. But Vogel had recommendations to reverse the trend on the desk of VA Secretary Jesse Brown by the end of 1993.

Vogel assembled a panel of VA benefits professionals and members of veterans' service organizations for the task. The panel, which has been meeting since May, was told to come up with a plan to eliminate what everyone agrees are intolerably high numbers of unresolved claims. Several factors contribute to the rising backlog:

— The Court of Veterans Appeals, established in 1988, obliges the VA to give explanations of their decisions.

— Veterans are applying for disabilities that are more complicated than in the past.

— Veterans who have been out of the military for years are turning up at VA facilities seeking service-connected disability ratings.

"We're getting claims now from people who left in 1946," Vogel said. "We've never seen them before."

Many of the new applicants had been covered by insurance plans provided by civilian employers, but they were laid off or retired and lost the coverage.

Other factors contributing to the backlog include a lack of experience among claim workers and changes in laws affecting eligibility criteria and notification requirements.
